

David Lucas, MD, MBA, CPE, LSSBB attended Drexel University College of Medicine. He is boarded in AP/CP Pathology and Cytopathology and is a certified Lean Six Sigma Black Belt (LSSBB). Dr. Lucas completed a Surgery internship with the US Navy and subsequent residency at the University of Colorado and Cytopathology fellowship at Geisinger.

Dr. Lucas completed his Master of Business Administration (MBA) at Youngstown State University and earned his Certified Physician Executive (CPE) designation with the American Association for Physician Leadership.

At WVU Medicine, he provides directorships for laboratories and serves as Chair of the Utilization Subcommittee as an Assistant Professor. He is also the Founding Course Director for WVU's Leadership and Business Acumen Development program for pathology residents and fellows, which will launch in February 2026. He also provides serves as a Center Physician and Medical Director for CSL Plasma under his company Agile Pathology, LLC. Dr. Lucas also serves both as the 10th District Board of Trustee and as a member of the Finance Committee for the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

Dr. Lucas has extensive experience serving on hospital boards, Health Professional Action Committees, and Board Quality Committees, among others. His past specialty-specific leadership roles include separate Chair positions in both Medicine and Pathology.

In the payor sector, Dr. Lucas served as the National Director of Genetic Testing for Elevance Health, where he gained valuable experience in healthcare reimbursement and utilization management. He also served as the subject matter expert for the merger and acquisition of LabCorp's BeaconLBS platform. Currently, he provides independent review services for payors through Nexus, also under Agile Pathology, LLC.

During his Navy affiliation, he served as a Hospital Corpsman and as a General Medical Officer. He also served aboard the USS Augusta fast-attack submarine and completed Navy Diving School.